He is obeying an instinct that is not only legitimate but vital, and which, if it finds every lawful channel choked up, will seek an outlet at the next available point. If there is a man clothed in dignity and a blue coat especially hired to chase you if you will only take the necessary means to gain his interest, --and if there is nothing else to do, --it is a flying in the face of Providence not to make the most of what fortune so considerably sends. But tag is not the only game, and the policeman is not the only one who knows it. Nor is the irate grocery man his only substitute. Give a boy a chance at football, basketball, hockey, or the game; give him an opportunity to perform difficult and dangerous feats on a horizontal bar, on the flying rings, or from a diving board, --and the policeman will need a gymnasium himself to keep his weight down. This is not theory, but is the testimony you will get from any policeman, schoolmaster, or social worker who has been in a neighborhood before and after a playground was started there. Is play a necessity Yes, if the child lives and is a whole child. If he is above ground, and the best part has not been starved quite out of him, play there is certain to be, if not in one form, then in another. The boy problem,...
